

Craigslist , the online clearinghouse best known for free classifieds and dial-a-hooker ads, has a new genre of personals - straight men looking for a "bromance." Call me old-fashioned, but the very word itself conjures a strong degree of shall we say, 'unmanliness'. Here's a couple of bromance ads from Craigslist Personals/Men-Seeking-Men/Platonic, both of which offer further proof that the cultural implosion of this nation is well underway:

Guy looking for Bromance - m4m

msc090908
prohibited
spam/scrappost
best of craigslist

Date: 2009-09-08, 2:35AM CDT
Reply To This Post

Looking for a guy who is in a relationship like i am, but who is looking for a cool secret PLATONIC friendship with another guy. Drinking buds, games, pool, just hangout whenever we have time. NOT LOOKING FOR ANYTHING SEXUAL. I prefer if you are str8 to be honest. No offense to gay or bi guys, but i have had those friendships before and they just seem to only be interested in trying to get me naked. But hey, if you are a cool masculine bi or gay guy who lives a discrete life, i would be closed minded to you. I just want a buddy who i can be totally honest with. I work out and am above

I want a BROMANCE too! - m4m - 50 (dfw (but in S Dallas))

msc090906
prohibited
spam/scrappost
best of craigslist

Date: 2009-09-06, 1:38PM CDT
Reply To This Post

Str8 married guy here wantin to have a good time w/ other str8 guys. Cant hang with the wife all the time, if I drive me nuts. If you can think of anything to pass the time, hit me up...it's never too late to get out & have a little fun. I'm 6'1", 210, gray/blue, above avg who likes a little excitement once in a while. 50 years wise, 38 in action & thought