

Last February we reported on a TV commercial featuring amateurish CGI animals choosing to do themselves in rather than face life on a planet Earth rapidly morphing into Thunderdome - thanks of course to man-made Global Warming. The 60-sec. bit starred a chimp, a kangaroo, and what now seems to be the GW lobby's cause celeb - the polar bear, all using creative ways to off themselves. Evidently they had enough of these bears left over for a new GW group, www.planestupid.com

(a bunch of nuts who want to ban aviation), to make a new shock ad featuring last winter's survivors yet again snuffing it, this time by hurtling themselves off of skyscrapers. Where's ManBearPig when you need him?

[video:<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=fxis7Y1ikIQ> 400x300]